CONTEMPLATION

Remember that in body thine a God is dwelling there
Thy Temple from pollution free let it forever be.
Offend thou not thy God in thee, indulging in man's lusts;
Moreover if tormenting self thou groanest foolishly.
God has descended just to see the world with eyes of thine,
Then breathe on Him with senses pure, the Breath of Sacrifice.
It's He in thee, that sees, feels, thinks, and speaks by day and night.
Be thus in all thou dost see, feel, think, speak—divinely bright.

We all admire a man who says what he thinks—as long as he says it about other people.

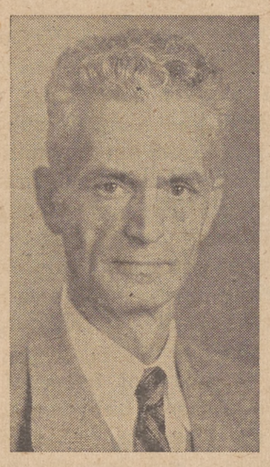
Adventures of Air Travel

Mr. W. A. Patterson
President, United Airlines
United Air Lines Building
Chicago 38, Illinois

Nov. 14, 1946

Dear Mr. Patterson:

I am a newspaperman and in my line of work, time is of the essence. I have been commuting regularly between San Diego, Los Angeles and San Francisco, by car, train and airplane in my line of business. Cost of travel has become a minor item, but the time element is paramount. I have noticed that many patrons of the air lines are small, individual business men in the same position, hence you, as a symbol of air travel, have here a steady source of patronage to the extent that you fill our needs.



C. Leon de Aryan

At first I used your line to fly weekly to L. A. because it was the most convenient one to facilitate my attendance in the courts which open at 10 a. m. And to eliminate the wearisome do-nothing period on the return trip by train, I also used to commute back by air, even though the cost is completely disproportionate. This went on until one morning your line cancelled its trip. I had to take the train, arrived 45 minutes late on my job in L. A., but managed to squeeze thru and write my report. I found out that arrangements could be made by which I could patronize the sure travel Santa Fe train, save money and still attend to my work.

Another experience was quite troublesome when during the rebuilding period of the offices at the Burbank air port, "dead" areas arose where the loudspeakers did not penetrate and I standing in such an area missed the announcement of the gate at which my plane was being loaded. To complicate matters I had just shortly inquired of your counter where that plane was and though it had already arrived, had unloaded its passengers, the blackboard was not marked and the clerk said it would arrive in about half an hour. But a few minutes later, while I was standing in a "dead" zone, the gate was announced and the fact that the plane was being loaded. Of course, I was not aware of it, relying upon the black board and the verbal information I had received. Wandering around I went accidentally to the gate where usually the plane lands and discovered that it was readying to fly. My protests availed me nothing, it flew without me.

To be stranded at Burbank, an hour away from the Santa Fe depot, with no alternative but spend the night there since no other line could accomodate me, while my work was waiting in San Diego, and it was rush work, that's why I fly, upset me considerably. So I decided to find out systematically where the fault lay since I could not afford a repetition. I went to the counter and located the clerk who gave me the misinformation. He countered that in spite of it I should have responded to the loudspeaker announcement. I pointed to the black board that even then did not have the gate marked. Again they said the loudspeaker gave the decisive announcement. So I went back minutely in my memory to locate the time and the place where I had been when the announcement was to have been made. Standing in that place I discovered that it was "sound-dead" and no announcements were heard at all.

At the counter they shifted the blame to the port director. At his office the girl tried to hush me and shove me out by excuses, but I persisted. So finally she agreed to take notes of my complaint. The matter was never adjusted, but with the progress of the building program, during a few months, it has been eliminated while the port director's office showed a complete lack of understanding of the urgency and the damage done me.

Returning to the counter I asked why they were not marking the black board properly. I raised cain when they gave me flippant replies, insisted on having it reported to whoever was in charge, and since then the board is being properly marked. Then I also asked why they were not hanging out a metal plate with the name of the Line, the flight number and destination, time of departure at the gate where the liner had landed. Thus the visual notice would forestall all other mistakes and give passengers assurance that they were missing no announcement which even now cannot be heard whenever the motors start to roar and one stands in that vicinity.

I noticed the other day that my suggestion is partially followed, but they leave the plates after departure. Other planes take their stand, other schedules supercede but the old plate hanging there causes confusion worse confused.

I also had suggested that the passengers baggage be immediately unloaded as the plane arrives so that the 10 to 15 minutes delay be eliminated. Especially when the plane arrived late and the margin between arriving in L. A. at 10 A. M. was exactly that 10 to 15 minutes. This seems to have been remedied since, for the baggage now can be claimed within 5 minutes of arrival.

The worst feature that arouses the ire of the victims is when the boy and girl clerks, who are immature youngsters, treat us with supercilious resentment when we have justified squawks. They represent all that is bad in burocracy. Nov. 5 showed what the American voters think of burocracy and when old timers, I am over sixty, patronize an airline in place of the railroads, we do so because we expect American initiative, ingenuity and accomodation, not moronic mass inefficiency.

Such incidents have weaned me from air travel and I give the railroads the preference whenever feasible. I notice that travel is falling off on your lines.

Three weeks ago I had to go to San Francisco and decided to take a Southern Pacific sleeper. Could not make the Lark, so got a tourist berth. But my car was full of drunken soldiers, one threw up all over the floor, hence I ditched the return ticket and flew back United. Some of your girl clerks are peaches. You have them at Lindbergh Field in San Diego and I located one in San Francisco. They use their heads.

She was a blonde. I was booked on the Nov. 1, trip 564, I believe. But having taken an earlier Key System train from Berkeley, I arrived ahead of time at your San Francisco office. The man clerk was yet sleepy, so I did not ask him, but managed to get on an earlier airdrome bus and arrived ahead of my 564 schedule at the airport. Here I asked the blonde to see if she could not ship me out earlier, since my original flite called for a 3 hour layoff in Burbank before I could get a ship for San Diego. She immediately suggested 524, phoned, found me a seat and I made good time.

That restored my confidence in flying on schedule. So I flew on Nov. 10 to S. F., it worked out well and I was boosting again for you.

On Wednesday, Nov. 13, I returned by 524. We left S. F. at 7 and were due in Burkank at 9 A. M. It was one of the large liners. I had a seat on the left, next to the window, three rows from the front. Could watch the propellers and was fascinated by noticing the elastic swaying of the wings under squall shocks. Also discovered the glass was bullet proof when ice pellets shot into it and shook the whole cabin. The heating system balked and we had to wrap ourselves in blankets. I still froze and so did everybody else. To my right sat a sailor who had been stationed on an aircraft carrier and it appeared that other pilots, civilians, also were on that plane. They visited forward and one reported the captain was too busy flying the ship so he had not asked him where we were nor when he expected to land.

I always have dreams about women. Never got weaned. So I am in the habit of looking at the stewardesses as ministering, lovely angels who have a job to do and do it well, though some don't know how to feed a vegetarian from the stores she dishes out. But the poor girls were frozen stiff. They had their uniform overcoats on but their legs were just nylon bare. And they looked haggard, so instead of looking up to them as the better part of men, it called out the protective sympathies that one feels for his spindle-legged daughter who suffers from cold and is all in. The rest of us could stay put with the blankets around our legs, while they had to run around and service the passengers and the forward crew.

Nine o'clock came and went, we were still in the fog. 9:30, 9:45 and then it dawned on us we were circling. The hail pelted the cabin, ice formed in the corners between wings and motors, the de-icers started to work and the sailor remarked that in the Navy they would land the plane safely by radar from the ground. But we were cruising.

I remembered the recent Newfoundland crashes and the thought went thru my mind that perhaps our hour had struck. Fear wafted over me and then the years of self-discipline set in.

Why should I be afraid? Had I not looked forward to the time when I would depart from this vale of tears and mass murder, treachery and slaughter? Civilization that is worse than cannibalism, for cannibals kill only to eat while modern militarism murders for the sake of murder. But I felt anxiety for my work, not finished. Will my sons be ready to carry on? Would they? And that brought me face to face with the Thought of God.

How wonderful, if my hour has struck! Now I'll be released. I felt such a gratitude surging from within. I relaxed and instead of being afraid I looked forward with joyful anticipation to see what would happen, whether really this is the end of my high pressure living and I could have peace and be free.

I looked around and saw everything in a new light. 10 o'clock. The stewardess ministered to a woman passenger who took ill. The girl looked no better than her patient. Perhaps, she too was thinking her hour had come. Suddenly the sun came thru. I looked down, no sight of land. A passenger from the other side of the aisle exclaimed: "I can see the ground". We craned our necks and there we saw through the clouds, houses and streets but they were groggy. The earth slanted way up over our wing tips and after a while it slanted the other way. The ship nosed back, way up into the clouds and the ice started pelting again and shooting at us. But I felt good, marvelous. So free from care. What was coming?

10:15 and we broke thru the clouds again. It looked like Long Beach to me, there was the ocean, it could not be Burbank. But there was an apprehensive look in the eyes of the stewardess. Poor girl. We did not land. Back into the clouds. Time passed, I lost track, did not care, when all at once we dove down. Rain everywhere. Mud flats. An airfield. We circled around and finally made a landing. My time had not come yet. Los Angeles Airport said the sign. We were at Mines Field.

The spell and pall of apprehension was broken. The steps were wheeled up and the door opened. A pert girl in uniform walked in and asked for the baggage tickets of those who wanted to go to down-town Los Angeles, Burbank, Hollywood. She routed them in due time into busses. 7 San Diego thru passengers remained. She informed us we would have to wait the arrival from Burbank of the other passengers booked for that flight. Nobody seemed to mind.

At 10:40 she came back telling us the flight was cancelled. A groan of resentment filled the air. Why had they kept us waiting? Why had they not sent us with the others where

The Devil's Sanhedrin at Work

Almighty God, usually ranked first among the Great Powers, has not been asked at any of the public sessions, to take note of the deliberations, to bless the statesmen and lend them wisdom.

The so-called Christian countries of the world, assembled to make another attempt to outline some sort of peace, meekly back water and ostracize the God they profess to worship, for fear of offending the God-haters of the Communistic bloc.

IT IS the common practice of Jews and Christians, in their worship of the One God, to ask Him to guide their rulers, statesmen, and other leaders.

But, we do not have the courage of our religious convictions. We are afraid we might insult the Soviet God-haters.

We don't seem to be afraid to insult God publicly, deliberately, and officially, by dispensing with any reference to Him and pretending that, for the long moment of these conferences, He doesn't exist.

The long week-end, Thursday to Monday, would be an excellent time for circulating petitions to our president, asking him to use his influence to bring about recognition of God in the assemblies of the United Nations, to which we are host, at great expense.

President Truman is a professing Christian, and, so far as we know, a devout worshipper of God. —Charles B. Driscoll.

* * * *

ST. MATTHEWS 8:44

Driscoll is deliberately fooling himself and and his readers. Truman might profess Christianity, but his actions belie his professions. Of him and his kind did Jesus say:

"Ye are of your father, the devil, and the lusts of your father it is your will to do. He was a murderer from the beginning and standeth not on the truth, because there is no truth in him."

What Christ-worshipper, what devout worshipper of God would have loosed the 2 A-bombs over innocent Japanese civilians and then jumped around in glee, as Truman did, on the boat on his return from Stalin?

What Christian would have turned over Europe to Stalin at Potsdam to have millions raped, murdered, robbed, slave-worked and outraged in every imaginable and unimaginable way? Who keeps the C. O.'s to war in slave camps and jails in the U. S. A.?

At least the Communists are honest in their devil-worship. They DON'T PRETEND to worship God. They murder for the lust of murder. They rape for the lust of raping. They rob for the lust of robbing. ALL THE OTHER ALLIES and the Nazis and Japs did and do the same things, but hypocritically they salve their scruples by asking God to bless their crimes and criminal leaders, and the Pope, patriarchs, rabbis, bishops and priests oblige.

For once we know that all these "peace" confabs are the devil's own brew and we owe the Russians a vote of thanks, in THANKSGIVING, that they took the camouflage off and exposed the whole UN outfit for what it is: THE DEVIL'S SANHEDRIN AT WORK.

Jews vs. Freedom of the Press

The New York Daily News has an application pending before the Federal Communication Commission (FCC) for award of a radio station. There are 11 other applicants. The Jewish Press is full of protests against award to the DAILY NEWS on the grounds that THE DAILY NEWS carries more news items concerning criminal and other improper activities of Jews AND Negroes than ANY OTHER paper in New York.

What does this charge of the Jews indicate? They don't charge the NEWS with manufacturing untrue reports, such as WINCHELL and PEARSON, Derounian (ROY CARLSON) and other smear artists do, they charge the NEWS with better coverage of the criminal and evil activities of Jews and Negroes in New York. And because of such coverage they demand that the FCC deny the application of the NEWS for a radio outlet and give it to some other appicant who SUPPRESSES THE NEWS ITEMS ABOUT THE CRIMINAL ACTIVITIES OF JEWS AND NEGROES IN NEW YORK.

Southern California Committee for the Relief of the German Peoples

DANCE SCHEDULED

The San Diego branch of the Southern California Committee for the Relief of the German Peoples is sponsoring an informal dance on Sunday, November 24 at 7 p. m. in the EPAC Hall 4567 - 30th St. There will be entertainment for all. This being a Thanksgiving dance, the public is asked to bring donations of food suitable to ship overseas. Everyone is cordially invited.

CRIMES AGAINST HUMANITY

One day the Dutch marines found some of their buddies chopped up. Ascertaining that the local monetary exchange between new Dutch guilders and Jap invasion money was thirty-six to one, they said, "Okay, we'll double it." Lining up seventy Indonesians taken from the massacre area, they shot them. A few such incidents have greatly sobered the Surabaya warlords—and embittered Indonesians of the so-called Republic of Java toward use by the Dutch of equipment from the "neutral" United States. When I asked a Dutch marine why they used such sharp retaliation, he explained with a grin, "Well, we were trained in America. We heard of how your troops wiped out whole Filipino villages when Aguinaldo's rebels killed some of your men in 1899."

—SAT. EVE. POST.

we could catch train or bus? There was an 11:30 Santa Fe train leaving. Two smaller liners were in the port. Why not put us on one of them? 8 more passengers from Burbank arrived.

"You have a payload now," shouted one man. "Put us on one of those planes!" There was an airdrome-bus standing. "Put us on that bus and send us to San Diego," shouted another. "Why this delay?"

A clerk thundered back, "These planes stay on the ground. Not a plane will leave this port."

"To hell with your airlines," was the comeback. "Why don't you get pilots who can fly a ship? The navy flies them and lands them in all sorts of weather? What did you take our money for?" It was pandemonium.

As long as your employees acted reasonably nobody complained. But as soon as they started to patronize us and treat us as unreasonable children, the tempers flew. What happened on Nov. 5, when burocrats were voted out, was repeated on proportionate scale. We resented the officiousness of inept clerks who could not handle an unexpected situation. And they realized it.

The pilot, the stewardesses, the clerks went outside and held a council. We waited. They did nothing, just talked. They could not agree among themselves. Democracy does not work in an emergency. Intelligence must rule.

I took matters in hand. "Let's all go in a body and tell them what to do." The other passengers, 15 of us, joined in. I walked over to your people and told them to break it up and get busy. "You lost our chance for catching the 11:30 Santa Fe. If you did not know what to do why did you not ask us?"

"But Mister, don't be mad at us, the CAA grounded all planes. It's not the United Air Lines' fault. We did not know the order was coming."

"Why did you not say so in the first place. It makes all the difference. Now don't stand there and try to vote among yourselves what to do. You have two limousines and a bus here. Ship us out instantly. Some want to go to Los Angeles, some to Long Beach. Where is our baggage?"

We grabbed our baggage, nobody checked us. Then your clerk announced that we must line up for the refund. "To hell with the refund," shouted one man. "You are losing me more time than the whole ticket is worth. What did we pay the supercharge for if not to gain time over the railroads?"

So they loaded us in the limousines. They told my driver to go to the Greyhound bus station in Los Angeles. But I prefer the Santa Fe. There is more comfort in a chaircar with a diner on the train. I am sixty, Sir. So on the way I asked the driver to take me to the depot after unloading the others. He said he would not. That he was not working for the United Air Lines but for the Airdrome company. That he was going to be paid only for the trip to the Greyhound station, not the Santa Fe.

I remonstrated with him. "You are doing yourself a favor to give us prompt co-operation. You get paid for servicing air travel. If you stand in the way you lose our goodwill for air travel. That hurts your boss and your job, too."

No, he was going to obey orders. He was afraid of being fired. He had no authority to make decisions.

And this is at the root of the whole situation. He was yet a kid. Good to drive a car but no brains to think with outside his routine rut. And so were your airport employees at Mines Field.

He dumped me at the Greyhound depot. I took a taxi to haul me and baggage to the Union Depot. I checked my luggage in one of the coin lockers. The next train was leaving at 3:15 P. M. I could have saved no business hours by going by bus. It was 12:30 noon. It would land me by bus at 4:30 IF I could get a seat. By five the business offices close. So I decided for the Santa Fe.

The rebound from all the suspense and excitement set in. One moment being ready to die and enjoy it, the next moment confronted by kids and chickens who held a council what to do with 15 San Diego bound passengers, but acting like chickens with their heads cut off. We had to take things into our own hands, and even then, the kid that drove Airdrome car 276 did not catch on to the idea that United had intended to give me what service I needed to get to the Santa Fe. American enterprise hog-tied by inefficiency of underlings! That's what we resent, that's why Truman is not wanted. That's why the vote went against "Democracy". Mass-intelligence stands on a low level. But only Intelligence produces results. Hence those gifted with it and daring to use it, are the leading Americans. That's what made this country great.

I felt so limp, since I had slept only 3 hours the night previous. Got up at 4 to dress and arrive from Berkeley for the checking in on the 6 o'clock limousine in San Francisco. Being too nervous to kill more time on a slow street car, took a taxi to the United office near the Biltmore Hotel. Here I presented my ticket stub for a refund. They all are kids and young chickens in your office there. Not a single mature person. That's your main trouble all along the line. They work allright in ruts, but cannot quickly improvise and make decisions, wield authority and accept its responsibility. They don't see the whole picture of men and women pressed for time, buying time with money, flying to save time. Losing money and business where time is lost. It costs me $9. for every business hour lost and besides it piles the work up on me for it has to be done anyway, I have no understudy.

The youngster looked at my ticket. "Why did you not get the slip back from the stewardess at Mines Field? We cannot give you a refund without it."

"Say, boob, I have had enough of this today. You children should go to Kindergarten and find out what you do." The look I gave him woke him up.

He grabbed the phone, called Mines Field, verified my story, took my address, returned my stub and promised to mail the refund. That was better, but one has to jack them up and put his foot down. Those kids have no initiative of their own like that blonde clerk in San Francisco had who routed me properly after other clerks had bungled the job and were going to lose me three precious business hours. You need mature people who can THINK and take responsibility, who see the whole picture; the competition in transportation and who live in their jobs, not drudge in them.

Then I went to the Vegetarian counter of the Clifton Cafeteria across from your office, had my lunch, relaxed and felt better. So I decided to cash in my refund from the Southern Pacific which I had not used previously when those drunken soldiers decided me to fly again. There I met a man who had not seen me for 6 years. He told me about the Western Air Liner from Los Vegas that had not landed its 11 people at Burbank and wondered whether I had been on that plane. And this made me think.

When I was ready for anything, a crash landing or accident, I looked around and wondered where the First Aid kit was. I took the pillow down and decided to hold it in front of my face should we crash. One really should wind a blanket around his head, or an overcoat. I remembered to plant my feet against the seat in front of me to prevent the belt from breaking, by easing the strain on it in case of a crash. And then I wondered what would happen should the nurses be killed and nobody knows where things are.

I looked at the "emergency" marked windows and memorized their location, also to turn the knob to the right to open them. Those things one must know, for it might be too late to try to puzzle it out after the crash. And I wondered why you don't have crash drills for the public as they have life boat drills on ocean going boats to acquaint the people with their stations and actions to be taken.

Why don't you?

There was the Las Vegas plane that never came into Burbank. Radar would have brought him in safely. The pilot had just radioed he was coming in from 9000 altitude.

Suppose you took the two types of planes you use and periodically, at the larger airports, gave the public a demonstration of how to act in emergencies.

The war produced many amateur nurses, mechanics, radio men, electricians, we all know something more or less. If the crew gets killed the passengers can take over. They must know what you've got and where it is. They might have to spend weeks in the cabin, if it survives the crash. They should even know where the batteries are located, the nature of the wiring, to make repairs. They should be familiar. You could have public training courses as first aid training and bombing drill was given during the war. You could award graduation diplomas and an emblem that tells your crew these people know their stuff, can be called upon to help and are not officious busybodies.

You should have had Santa Fe time tables at Mines Field. Also your literature for reading during travel should contain instructions what to do in case of a crash. Diagrams where various first aid things are located, fire extinguishers, axe, hammers, repair tool kit, flash lights, food, etc. A diagram of the lighting and heating system; anything that would be useful to marooned people. Every ship should carry 3 days emergency rations.

Well, you see, Mr. Patterson, when one is ready to die, joyously ready, the whole perspective clears and one lives in five minutes as much as a life time. It will be a marvelous reminder, a most useful experience to keep me well balanced in moments of great stress. I appreciate your position and all I care is to help, that initiative be not strangled and we as American businessmen may lead the world in achievement. This is what makes us Americans.

Sincerely, yours C. LEON de ARYAN

HAND OF DEAD FLIER STILL GRIPPING CONTROLS

BURBANK, Nov. 18,—A dead flier's hand still grips the controls of the Western Air Lines plane which crashed Wednesday, with 11 persons aboard, against the snowy peak of White mountain.

Ventura county Deputy Sheriff Dolney Cummings, leader of a party which made an unsuccessful effort to recover the bodies, reported finding five burned corpses in the wreckage.

No attempt at identification was made, said Cummings. He was unable to determine whether the hand on the controls was that of Capt. Garrell Miller, 34, of Van Nuys, pilot or First Officer Ted Mathis, 25, of Whittier, co-pilot.

Did We Fight The Wrong People in Europe ?

By KURT MERTIG

Hon. Harry S. Truman
President of the United States
White House Washington, D. C.

Mr. President:

You signed an official proclamation calling on your fellow citizens of the Republic to observe next September 19 the 150th anniversary of George Washington's Farewell Address.

Under present conditions especially, it is advisable to recall this inspired message for its wisdom which is appropriate to-day as it was a century and a half ago when it was first read to Congress.

Thank God, there are still with us many patriotic Americans to whom Washington's Farewell Address is, and always will be, a living document and who have always held true to Washington's teachings. Their names are legion; they are from every State and they are from every walk of life.

These many millions of sincere patriots are not in accord with the New Deal's Office of War Misinformation. They do not want to see America become entangled in a new brewing World War III. They recall vividly how the United States were sucked into the vortex of World Wars I and II and they pray that America may again in future become a Republic of free men with liberty and justice for all.

Having seen mankind as well as our beloved country go through such terrible suffering twice within the last thirty years, it should be worthwhile for every American patriot—in view of the sesquicentennial anniversary of Washington's immortal Farewell Address— to sit down and reflect how this has come all about.

If our judgment is not influenced by partisan politics, then the record shows:

(a) That the American people had no concern with World War I, into which they were sucked by Woodrow Wilson and America came out of it by being universally referred to as "Uncle Shylock", when we humbly suggested a long term debt settlement agreement.

(b) That the American people were double-crossed by Franklin Roosevelt into World War II—which was none of our business—because the Big Brain realized that he had not solved the nation's unemployment problem and that nothing but a foreign war would save him from political defeat.

(c) That the American people—and especially the U. S. Veterans of World War II—strenuously object to being told by our "leaders", well salaried New Deal press agents and professional world-savers that "deterioration of Russian-American relations has now reached the stage, where people . . . . are beginning to talk of the inevitability of World War III".

As it is the American people who will have to do the fighting, it is they and their representatives in Congress who ought to be consulted, before we get into another total war to the death against the strongest totalitarian power in history and which would probably lead to the final strangulation and dissolution of the American system of free enterprise.

HOW IS IT POSSIBLE THAT THE PRESENT CONFUSION COULD COME ABOUT? The only answer is: Nothing is right after 14 years of leadership to be Left. It is also up to you, Mr. President, to look the following historical facts in the face:

(1) The late F. D. R.'s obsession with the idea that the British Empire should be preserved, hence his adoption of a policy of phony neutrality;

(2) The late F. D. R.'s complete ignorance of the value of money and the resulting wasting of the nation's resources during the war at a rate never equalled; hence our worry about rapidly approaching inflation (and not deflation after the war, as you, Mr. President, mistakenly believed);

(3) The late F. D. R.'s allowing at the Quebec Conference in August, 1943 to let the heretofore secret Morgenthau Murder Plan loose upon the world for the total and complete subjugation of the German people, not only the military, but women and children and unborn generations as well; for the division of Germany among the victors, the destruction of her industries, or their removal to the conquerors, principally Soviet Russia; American troops to be used to assist in the enslavement of Europe— individuals arrested and shipped away from their homes and their families; the standard of living of the German people to be lowered until it was the worst of Europe; the Germans to become a bunch of goat shepherds and Germany to become a goat pasture;

(4) The late F. D. R.'s coining that "unconditional surrender" policy at a time when the Germans were rushing to surrender to the U. S. armies of Patton, which caused a stiffening of German resistance and a determination to fight to the bitter end—thereby causing increased loss of American life;

(5) The late F. D. R.'s fantastic and tragic secret agreements with Russia at Teheran and Yalta, causing millions of slaves to vanish from Europe into Bolshevik terror;

(6) Your own, Mr. President, piling blunder by entirely needlessly compromising the United States by the Potsdam Agreement in the worst diplomatic handicap, of which Soviet Russia has taken for one year already every advantage of its cruel madness, dominating the policy of the United States and European Western countries.

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

Enclosed, please, find check for $10.

$5 for subscription and $5 for Joan McBride, may God help her!

We are so sorry we can't give more, as we have to help our dear ones in Germany. Driven out and lost everything, my brother and his son are still in Russian prison camps. His wife never heard from them since 1945 in January. Her only son was in the war from the beginning to end and as he arrived home, the same day was taken out in front of his mother to work in Russia in February 1945 and his mother (my Sister in Law) never heard from him since.

She begs me for underwear and clothing as she is in rags, living in the Russian zone and my heart is broken as we cannot send anything into the Russian zone. She has not even money to buy the little she can get for living, as she has no way of making any money where she lives. She only helps there.

My husband's brother living in the Russian zone in Berlin writes he has 30,000 Marks in the bank and he is starving. His wife, 65 years old, weight 68 pounds, had from Saturday to Tuesday 2 slices of bread to live on. For Sunday they had one CARE package given to him from some one. Well, I sent 4 CARE to British zone July 17 and the letter I got written October 14 they still were waiting for the package.

I hope now after this election a lot of things will be better and we hope and pray to be allowed soon to send into the Russian zone before they are freezing and starving as they have sure suffered enough for the guilty ones!

I have given every BROOM to friends and even sent them to Long Island as they were telling me they all want to subscribe; I hope so.

May God bless you, your work and your son.

Sincerely, W. and B. — —

GENEVA CONVENTIONS BROKEN

The above is a fair example of the conditions in Germany and how the Geneva conventions to which the USA has subscribed are being broken. Is there any wonder then that Joan McBride in her sympathy took a chance in helping a P. O. And the USA, a signatory to the Geneva conventions, has the effrontery to sit in judgment on a woman who dared do the HUMANE thing which the politicians spout from the roof tops, but inhumanly never live up to.

We have more people send in their mites to help this woman arouse what little sense of shame is left in our courts and justice in law. The USA is not entering court with clean hands against this woman.

Dear Kosti: Thursday 3 A. M.

Just got in. My brother took us out after we got thru work at 12 midnight, but I just cannot go to sleep without writing you and thanking you for the two letters I received yesterday and the enclosed $23.

I do not see how you find so much time for me when you got so much to do besides going to Frisco so often. Are you getting anywhere with that— I hope so.

I do want my friends to know that I thank them heartily for their contributions. I need it so badly. The attorney fees are astronomical and I have not even got half of it together.

Saw Jim Sunday. He is well and thanks you for the $20 you sent him.

How is your health these days? Are you putting on any weight? Well, I better go out and mail this and then try to sleep. I have been coughing so much for over a week, have not slept soundly and so feel quite worn out.

God bless you for your kindness and give you lots of sterngth to carry on. Best wishes from Gertrude, she misses sunny California, so do I.

Love, JOAN.

Dear Kosti:

Are you still in business? I didn't get you 11|11 issue.

Am anxious to get your reaction to the election.

We are jubliant with, of course, certain reservations. The Trib. smashes away at Vandenburg nearly every day. That suits me. I never could stomach the guy.

Here's a fiver for Joan or any other purpose you may see fit. — — E. O.

Message of Holy Zarathushtra

Zoroastrian Library, 3560 Sixth Ave., San Diego 3, California

THE TIMES IN WHICH HE LIVED

Holy Zarathushtra, the Prophet of the ancient Iranian-Aryans, lived about 8000 B. C. in the reign of King Gushtasp of the Kaianian dynasty, long before the birth of prophets such as Abraham, Moses, Confucious, Buddha, Jesus, Mahomed and a number of later prophets and teachers. In the dim distant mists of time, when mankind had no definite ideas about religion or God, when people believed in the existence of a number of good and evil powers in the control of nature's forces, when mankind lived in perpetual conflict between ideas of gods and angels on the one hand and demons on the other hand, Holy Zarathushtra propounded his theology that was replete with precious teachings which are traceable in the pronouncements of the later prophets abovenamed.

For an insight into the life and work of this great teacher of mankind we would refer the reader to the book on "The Life of Holy Zarathushtra", by Framroz Rustomjee, and in this article we attempt to summarize some of the salient features in the Message which Zarathushtra has brought to this world.

DISSATISFIED WITH THE PREVALENT BELIEFS OF THE PEOPLE

Zarathushtra was wholly dissatisfied with the prevalent erroneous beliefs of the people of his days. He realized that life was not woven with the tissues of joy and happiness alone but of sorrow and misery, injustice and iniquity, greed and avarice, wrath and rapine, envy and malice, crime and vice, filth and disease. Human Zarathushtra became responsive to every form of human suffering. Temples reeking with the blood of sacrificial animals filled his heart and mind with horror. He realized that morality began with man, and that man alone was conscious of Good and Evil.

IN QUEST OF TRUTH

He turned against barren formalism, meticulous ablutions, superstitious fear and display of holiness, which passed for religion, in his early life. He saw in every blade of grass, in every stream, in every phenomenon of nature and creation the hidden hand of God. Through a process of intense purification of his mind and heart, he forded the waters of esoteric knowledge concerning the Universe, Creation and Nature. He so lived his life, that in his quest of Truth he was able to look into the within of himself. His meditations upon the mysteries of Nature afforded to him the key to the problems of Life, of Death, of Good and Evil, of Heaven and Hell, and of Resurrection.

THE MIGHTY MIND OF ZARATHUSHTRA

The mighty mind of Zarathushtra began to comprehend the law of Asha (the immutable law of God that regulates the birth, growth, decay and death of every created object in the Universe). He laid down for the first time in human history the foundations for the understanding of the idea of God, and thus introduced in its purest form the cult of monotheism.

ZARATHUSHTRA'S CONCEPT OF GOD

The God of Zarathushtra is not an anthropomorphic deity. He is not a being or entity capable of being visualized, except through the mind's eye. The God of Zarathushtra is a personal God, in the sense that God has an Individuality, but that Individuality eternally transcends His creations. (To be continued)

Atheist Radio Talk Scored

SAN FRANCISCO,—Indignant church-goers barraged radio station KQW with complaints for permitting atheist Robert Harold Scott to spend 30 minutes arguing against the existence of God.

Hardly had Scott completed his address when the station, a CBS outlet, was deluged with telephone protests.

At Los Angeles, the Ancient Order of Hibernians and its ladies auxiliary, of Los Angeles county, passed a resolution of protest to the federal communications commission for permitting Scott to broadcast. The resolution asked the FCC to "withdraw its sanction of such un-American and anti-religious programs."

RIGHT SOUGHT 5 YEARS

KQW granted Scott time over the station after Scott's five-year battle for the right to broadcast his disbelief in God. The FCC upheld Scott's contentions after he petitioned for revocation of the licenses of KQW and several other bay area stations for their refusal to grant him time.

In his address, Scott said, "I do not throw stones at church windows. I respect everyone's right to have and to express the belief that a God exists. But I require respect for the corresponding right to express disbelief in such a being."

SUFFERINGS LISTED

After cataloguing the diseases and sufferings of mankind, Scott said:

"No God would be human, but any deity, if completely good, would necessarily be humane. He would not shut the gates of mercy on man or beast in order to accomplish some purpose which, if he were omnipotent or omniscient, he could immediately, and no less perfectly, fulfill."

Fred Ruegg, program director, explained the station was contributing time for Scott's address "in order to determine whether there is sufficient interest in atheism in this area to justify time being devoted to future broadcasts."

RADIO MUST UPHOLD BILL OF RIGHTS

The "indignant" church-goers of San Francisco and the Ancient Order of Hibernians, Catholic, of Los Angeles, should go back to Kindergarten and start learning the fundamentals of the U. S. Constitution before claiming to be good Americans. They are the very menace to human progress which has held the country back all these years.

Robert Harold Scott is to be congratulated for his tenacity in demanding that FCC live up to its obligations and protect RELIGIOUS FREEDOM. Those fanatics who claim that their religion is IT and that others have no right to use the same facilities they use to present views contrary to the theological absurdities of the Catholic Sanhedrin of Rome or any other denomination, are the un-Christian and un-American followers of bigotry, not worshippers of God. God lets the sun shine on saint and sinner alike. The Hibernian fanatics would shut it off and keep it only for the Pope and his dupes.

As an American who believes in the Bill of Rights to mean what it says, I deplore the pressure brought upon radio to deny equal rights to all religious views to be aired. If the stations give free time for the criminal Mosaic-Talmudic superstition that God Almighty is so cruel that he demands bloody atonement by a scape-goat for the "sins" of the world and in his madness at us sent his only begotten son to be murdered to appease the bloodthirsty father before giving us "salvation", then Robert Harold Scott is an apostle of Truth while he debunks such gruesome picture of "God" which the Hibernians and the church-goers impose on their own moronic minds and offspring.

In these U. S. A. we don't have to resort to suppression to prove the fallacy of atheism. We can let them spout and then by reasoning demonstrate how ridiculous the claims of the atheists are. But the churches cannot do it. They don't reason. They propound a theology more stupid than the agnosticism of the atheists. Hence they resort to suppression.

Let freedom ring! Any intelligent thinker can lick an atheist and back him into a corner without much ado. Their ignorance is so ridiculous the audience and they themselves, if honest, will end up in good natured hilarity.

Contract Slave Labor in Mines ?

John L. Lewis says the contract the soft coal miners union has with the "government" has expired and the miners will not work without a contract. The "government" filed an injunction against Lewis in Washington, D. C. district court to "force" the miners to "live up" to their contract, claiming that Lewis is misleading the miners and that the contract with the "government" has not expired. Rumors say that the Dept. of "Justice" is going to demand a criminal indictment by the Grand Jury in D. C. against Lewis for violation of the Smith-Connally anti-strike law.

Let's look what actually is happening. The "government" is robbing all of us in income taxes, sales taxes, and in every single tax which the federal revenuers are extorting from us. They have no RIGHT to a single solitary dollar in taxes. It is plain highway robbery. The only thing the "government" is entitled to collect is the RENT of its services reflected in land values. THAT alone is what the "government" produces, ALL other properties are private and whenever the "government" dips its hands into our pockets it robs us.

But to protect the landed pirates of coal titles, to not assess the landvalues of the coal mines, and others, the federal and the state "governments" rob the workers and business thru all sorts of taxes, so that retailers have become tax collectors of hidden and of sales taxes which keep the price of merchandise sky high. THAT reduces the buying power of the coal miner's wages. To protect themselves, then, the miners formed a labor union and the "government" passed the Wagner act to force the miners to join it and DO AS LEWIS tells them or else have no jobs.

Then to make matters worse the "government" passed laws by which it forces the mine operators to pay what wages the "government" orders them to pay or else it is taking over the mine properties with soldiers and bayonets. But bayonets will not dig coal.

Lewis says there is no law to force the miners to work and he is right unless Truman and his "government" introduce Stalin's slave labor camps.

THYSSEN A MARRANO ?

Kosti:

Fritz Thyssen was not a JEW. August Thyssen founded the large iron works. He was a Catholic. My grandfather (also a great industrialist of that period) told me when I was a child: Ja, if I had had the support of Rome (meaning the Pope) I, too, would be as big as Thyssen. Many of these later "great" industries were started about a hundred years ago.

It seems strange: but Rome supported some of these and the Church of Anglia supported others, such as Vickers-Armstrong (Chamberlain of Birmingham) etc.

Love, YE DUKE

Editor's Note: Both, Roman and Anglican, churches are subsidiaries of the Sanhedrin, hence in the munition business.

Anti-Newdealism is Forbidden On Riker's Island, Says Elmhurst

Jew Censors Letter to President; Sick Negro Creates Sympathy of Prisoners

NEW YORK, Oct. 5 (Special),—In the second part of Chapter 3 of Ernest Elmhurst's startling book, exposing the treatment of inmates on New York City's misdemeanor prison—Rikers Island, an interesting account is found of the vagaries of the Jewish censor, who passes or holds up inmates' mail as he sees fit.

On one occasion typical of many, it occurred to an inmate to write a letter to President Truman, "reminding the chief executive that it was his first and foremost duty to see to it that the U. S. Constitution should be upheld; and that this task was more important than writing congratulatory letters to Jews on their holidays.

JEWISH CENSOR ACTS

"In this instance the Jewish letter censor at once contacted a co-racialist, the Keeper Weinstock, to see to it that that particular 'Goy' be punished.

"Thereupon Weinstock, although he had no business to be present in the messhall, since he was assigned to an outside job, took it upon himself to order the man at the food counter to TAKE ONE PIECE OF MEAT OFF THE PLATE OF THE INMATE WHO HAD WRITTEN THE PRESIDENT.

"If that inmate had raised the slighest protest or objection to that exhibition of Jewish pettiness, it would have landed him quickly in the 'bing'. . . . The Anti-New Deal prisoner, however, was wise as to Jewry's scheme of provoking their political adversaries and just kept quiet, while he ate his one small cube of stew beef."

Weinstock delighted in ordering inmates of known Anti-New Deal sentiments to do extremely disagreeable jobs. To refuse was construed as "disobeying an officer", and might result in a diet of bread and water. Sometimes he would give a size 15 shirt to a 17½ inmate and compel him to go around in this semi-straightjacket for a week. To protest meant the bing.

Prisoners desiring a haircut or shave were held to their assigned order, even if the barber sat idle a whole afternoon, while pleas of inmates due to appear in court next day were ignored.

The author cites many such mistreatments, which space forbids repeating here. "Bums, bastards and sons-of-b——" were favorite terms which keepers delight to hurl at polite inmates, asking the simplest services.

Many inmates wear torn clothes, because needles and pins are on the contraband list.

Rikers adopted an odd sort of punishment from Holmesburg prison in Pennsylvania: alternating hot and cold temperatures on certain inmates, especially in the psychopathic ward. The Rikers inmates unanimously condemned the system, as endangering the lives of those undergoing it.

SICK NEGRO NEGLECTED

"On March 10, 1946. . . . a young Negro from Block 8A was released from a bing term, and, after a week on bread and water, found his stomach so upset that the regular prison fare caused him great agony. After supper he complained of stomach pains.

"When the cell doors were locked at 7:50 p. m. his trouble increased, and he began to beg for the aid of medicine, to give him relief. The keeper on duty, however, not only disregarded his request, but deliberately stayed away instead of making his next regular inspection round.

"Other inmates commenced to shout that a doctor or a nurse should be called when his moaning seemed endless, while renewed calls were made that some keeper get medicine or send to Manhattan, since the hospital employees had taken off that Sunday night. However, no keeper showed up for several hours, while the Negro boy, who seemed a religious type, constantly cried to God for help. Yet no help came from neither God or Rikers Island.

"Finally, around midnight when the keeper's shift changed, the officer on duty threatened to punish such inmates, whose protesting voices he thought he recognized. After all, he said, the prisoners were only entitled to 'uniform treatment'. And to obtain medical care, of course, requires an interview slip, which will eventually be answered within three days."

By WASHINGTON ADAMS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 16, (Special)—The fine people of the great State of California "atomized" the vicious "FEPC" proposal by a MILLION MAJORITY, and in rejecting this notorious red measure they threw Tommy Dewey's Presidential hopes into the ashcan.

Strange—isn't it?—how a people 3,000 miles away could so decisively smash a politician they had never seen, had only heard of indirectly, and who was not directly at issue. . . . But California had done it once before, in 1916, when a change in its vote by no more than 1990 tallies from Wilson to Hughes would have defeated Wilson and might have avoided our entrance into World War I.

California is the most REPRESENTATIVE STATE IN THE UNION. It has more citizens from all of the 47 other States than any other State has. It is, in a sense, a sort of Gallup's poll of America.

And, fortunately for America, the Reds thot they could put across the most infamous measure ever proposed in our country—the sinister Anti-White and Anti-Christian bill, deceitfully called "Fair Employment Practices" act.

Whereupon the good white Christian people of the Golden State gave it the "Hiroshima", and thereby ELIMINATED IT FROM FURTHER CONSIDERATION in Congress. And put the Indian sign on every scurvy demagogue who has been willing to sell the white race down the river for the votes of minorities!

I am completely convinced that the people of the three Eastern States—New York, New Jersey and Massachusetts—who were BETRAYED BY THEIR LEGISLATURES when "FEPC" laws were enacted—would together have REJECTED "FEPC" BY 2,000,000 MAJORITY!

Dewey showed the littleness and cowardice of his soul when he bowed to the pressure groups of Red Jews and Pink Negroes and forced his legislature to pass the infamous bill without a referendum.

EASTERN IRON CURTAIN

Not one Eastern paper, so far as I have been able to discover, carried one single line about California's historic overwhelming defeat of this infamous measure. I have phoned various Eastern newspaper news rooms, from time to time, to inquire about the bill's fate at the polls. They admitted many inquiries from others; but they had no information. "Perhaps the fault of the press associations", they suggested. I begged them to "tickle the wires" for information and publish it.

What was the sinister power that erected an iron curtain of censorship across the Rocky Mountains to hide from the East this wonderful victory for Americanism?

Not until four days after the election was I able to find out, from California papers, how the amendment was going, and each day I was thrilled to read the mounting majority against the atrocious "Proposition No. 11."

NO FILLIBUSTER NECESSARY ?

No longer will it be necessary for Southern Senators to fillibuster against bill "S. 101" by the Indian Chavez of New Mexico. California's noble victory has banished such crazy, treasonable bills permanently from Congress.

BUT WHAT ABOUT CALIFORNIA'S SENATOR W. F. KNOWLAND? It is reported that he will fight to abolish the fillibuster, which has saved our nation from many foolish laws, and especially the crazy "FEPC" early this year. If so, he joins the Communist "Daily Worker," the socialist "PM", the leftwing "Chicago Sun," and every pro-Russian and anti-American newspaper in this land. They will welcome an APOSTATE REPUBLICAN to their midst.

Is Knowland at heart a radical socialist? Is he a left-wing New Deal "Republican"?

Does he wish to slap in the face the overwhelming majority of his own people, who voted down the "FEPC"?

Have alien, dark and sinister forces "gotten to him" and corrupted his Americanism?

"Christ's Church of the Golden Rule" vs. Anti-Christ

Dear Kosti:

I am writing to you in regards to "Mankind United" and the suit in the U. S. court. I am a member of the Christ's Church of the Golden Rule. I put my money and effort in the M. U. and when trouble came I did not ask for it back as I gave it in good faith, hoping that it would, with what others put in, bring about conditions that would make this world a better place for all the people to live in and that no one need to know any want any more or know what fear meant.

I gave from my heart without any expectation of any great reward to myself and my wife concurred with me.

Now I have lots of clippings from the newspapers and some of yours. From them I find that you made an investigation to find the truth as to the claims on both sides. I very much wish to know the truth as you found it. Could you or would you give me what facts you found out regardless of whom the shoe pinches. I don't want to misjudge anyone nor do I want to shield one who has done a wrong wilfully. I want to be fair or nothing. I believe I would like to read it, for I believe that you write the truth only and the truth has almost become extinct.

I would be very glad to get facts in this case as I believe our freedoms are being taken away from us in an ever increasing degree and if it goes on it will not be long until our freedom will be only a memory, not to be voiced by the common man.

With best wishes for you, I remain yours for Truth and Freedom, E. S.— —

* * * *

My Dear E. S.: — —

Thanks for the expression of faith you are placing in me.

I have had every opportunity to hear all that is being brought up against Mr. Bell by former members of the Church and the Attorney General's office in court in Los Angeles and San Francisco. They left nothing out.

In court Mr. and Mrs. Bell refused to answer questions as to where they were getting their finances, where they were keeping it and they took all the burden of persecution upon themselves so as not to involve those people who otherwise would be persecuted too and hounded as Bell and his wife are hounded. Both of them are capable people who are well grounded in spiritual Faith and understand of the Law of Life, so that they can bear successfully the whole pressure and not break down while perhaps many of those who still finance the movement might not withstand the strain. This has been shown by the incidents of such members who were persuaded to turn against Bell.

The fact that Mr. and Mrs. Bell refused to answer questions as to the direct source of their finances and name the contributors and the place they keep their money, has been construed by the court, under an improper statute, that Bell defrauded the Church as well as the M. U. registrants. That statute follows circumstantial evidence and such evidence need not necessarily be true, it can be, and in this case is, entirely misleading. The statute says that a person who is a trustee and handles other people's affairs must, when asked in court, account for every penny and every action, or else it is assumed that he defrauded. It does not take into consideration a case like the present, where the Attorney General is abusing his powers to destroy an organization which opposes war and naturally Mr. and Mrs. Bell won't help him by revealing who is doing the heavy financing since their business and duty before God, M. U. and the Church is to put an end to war. If they gave out the information the stool pigeons who persecute the church could then hound the faithful ones as they are hounding Bell and his wife. So, naturally, the fact that he refuses to disclose the sources of revenues proves his faith, since he contracted with the M. U. and the Church to show by example how war can be ended.

When you undertake to go up against the war-makers and profiteers who have succeeded to control all the governments of the world and enslave all the people, regiment them, rob them in taxes and order their children to kill each other for the profit there is in plunder, you are up against a very devilish outfit who shy at nothing. The pressure they exert is terrific. Only very strong souls can stand up under it.

When Mr. White, for example, disagreed with his wife, the strain upon both was very great. Since the Christ vision was not clear to both, as perhaps it is to you and your wife, all the little and the great adjustments they had to make to keep up their resistance to the anti-Christ did wear out their mental and spiritual resources and finally they gave up. They saw all the faults which project organizations of 1000 people produce where everybody has faults and they overlooked the fact that the U. S. government and militarism itself is by far more productive of misery, death, war and betraying the faith people placed in FDR when he promised again and again and again not to send our boys to be slaughtered on foreign soil. So the little hardships and petty faults of those who worked with them in the Church appeared very great to the Whites, while they forgot how much more evil they have to accept when living in the world as it is where such a large portion of their earnings go to pay for war and corrupt public administrations. So they charged Bell with fraud and became stool-pigeons against him, going to the very anti-Christ forces that make war to denounce him and have him persecuted.

For a while it looked like the anti-Christ would win. But now Judge John W. Preston is turning the tide the other way. He has sufficient knowledge of the law and enough guts and integrity to stand with spiritual truth and defend the rights of those who follow the Christ as they see it. I have every confidence in him.

I have not found Bell to be a crook. In my 45 years of actual fighting the Sanhedrin of the war-makers I have been up against the same things that Bell is facing. I understand the pitfalls set for him and appreciate his efforts not to drag others into it who placed their faith in him. Your covenant is not with Bell but with the Christ. If ever anyone placed their faith in Bell and not in the vision of the Christ, they failed the Christ to start with. Bell never wanted his name known, he did not want to be idolized. He works as much as a servant as the rest of you. The difference lies in the ability to carry responsibility. He has more talents, hence his responsibility. He has more talents, all that he is charged with I could not find him guilty of breaking trust. He does not tell everything to everybody because few could keep those protected whom the Attorney General wants to destroy, but he speaks up frankly with me and lets me see the cards he is playing. He discovered that I am working in the same divine service and have the ability to hold my own against such pressure as is put on him, too.

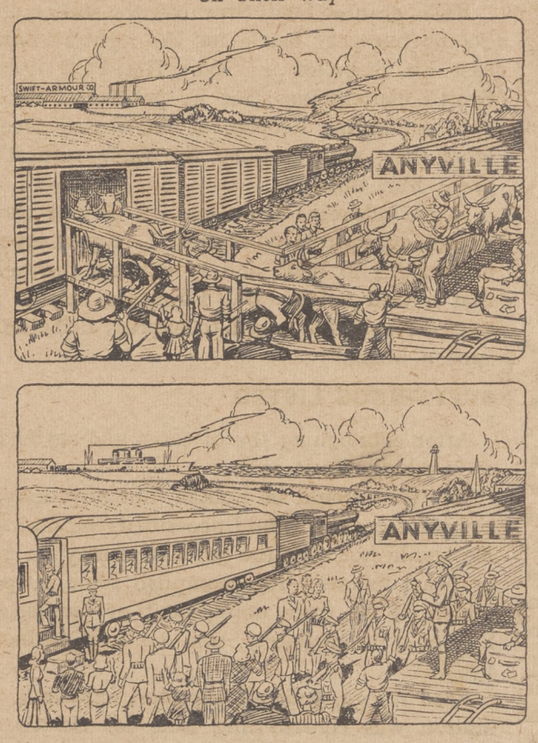
They have robbed and ransacked his house many a time. They found him guilty of "sedition" against war. That proves that he is for the Christ. He dares come out openly and carry it through right in war-time when all the cowards wave the flag and send their children to murder and be murdered.

Bell's contract is with the Christ. The judges who conduct the trial are all "patriotically" against the Christ and for war-heroics. Naturally, what chance does Bell have of a fair trial on the merits?!

Now since you have implored me to tell you all the facts and hide nothing, I will justify your trust.

If all of you members of the Church were vegetarians you would have much better divine protection against persecution for he who draws the butcher knife must expect to be butchered, too. As long as people are willing to raise animals and then treacherously butcher them, they, too, are guilty of breaking faith with the animals and must expect to pay the penalty. A Church that would follow the Law of Love in every detail and have Faith that the Allmighty provided food for all of us so that we don't have to slaughter innocent beings and rob them of their carcass, such a Church alone would live up to Christ's Golden Rule. If you don't apply the Golden Rule to the animals neither can you expect divine protection in all things but only in the measure as you mete out to others.

On Their Way



Hold to your original vision that made you register with M. U. and later induced you to join the Church. Live up to it, for your contract is with that vision of the Christ, not with Bell, and the Christ will reward you according to your faith.

Sincerely, KOSTI.

THE "RELIGION" OF RUSSIA

By SANDRA WHITTEMORE

Who does not remember the apologetic manner in which President Roosevelt rebuked the Soviet for her aggresive war in Finland?

The U. S. was then in a difficult position. A large number of its citizens were indignant at the treatment little Poland was receiving from Russia. The State Department had to appease this group, by speaking harshly to the Soviet, yet it was imperative that the Kremlin should not be offended; therefore the rebukes took the form of— "We really don't approve of what you are doing. But of course we know Hitler is responsible for your conduct. Please forgive us for mentioning it".

Russian favor must be gained at all costs.

Three things were necessary to insure Great Britain complete victory over Germany; these three were: A benign Soviet, a strong France and the United States as an active ally.

With the United States in the war France could not fall, and with the United States in the war and a strong France, the active participation of the Soviet would not be needed. No one knew this better than Stalin.

Churchill was confident that France would hold until the United States came in but Stalin knew otherwise.

Three great stands were to be made in France along the natural defense lines, the Somme, the Seine, and the Loire. Before the last of these had been reached the Yanks would be fighting alongside the Tommies.

What happened? There was little fighting, if any, along the Somme, except briefly near Abbeville. The battle of the Seine was never fought and no attempt was ever made to hold the line of the Loire. The single French success was that of General de Gaulle whose tank unit advanced during three days but had to withdraw because it remained unsupported. The Germans simply brushed aside the French army and the Maginot line was turned.

On June 21, 1940, the armistice was signed. What couldn't happen had happened. Throughout the world news commentators and news analysts filled the ether with reasons and explanations. But no one told the real reason, for those who knew were those who would not tell.

STALIN HAD ENGLAND WHERE HE WANTED HER

Among those who knew were the leaders of the three states now referred to as the "Big Three". For one of them it was the moment of supreme triumph. The "Man of Steel" had been biding his time. At last he had England just where he wanted her. To survive she would have to have the Soviet Union as an ally, and to get the Soviet Union as an ally she would have to pay Stalin's price. In the words of a well informed Communist, "England was scared stiff". (To be continued)

Dear Mr. de Aryan:

Again we wish to extend our heartfelt admiration for permitting yourself to be used as an unobstructed channel for Good. May God Bless You and all your good deeds.

Sincerely ,— — C. B.

Upton Close Attacked Communism in New York

May A. Quinn Presided at Lecture by Famous Crusader—2,000 Present

NEW YORK, Nov. 15, (Special),— Although given the silent treatment by most of the New York press, Upton Close, the famous writer and "statesman of the airwaves," spoke to an enthusiastic audience of close to 2,000 patriotic "rightists" last night in the Brooklyn Academy of Music.

Mr. Close spoke on "The Open Doors to Communism," and showed how real Americans must unite and fight to close them. He traced the history of Marxism, which had its origin long before Marx. But Marx, the German "Jew", who went to England and wrote a vitriolic "Anti-Semitic" pamphlet, now on exhibit in the British Museum, soon adopted communistic principles, which have done so much evil in the world.

Mr. Close said that roughly there were but two main forms of government in the world,— one the free & individualistic form, of comparatively modern origin; the other, the "pater" (father), despotic and totalitarian, where, in exchange for a phony promise of security, the people surrender their liberties to a ruler, who must manage their lives from the cradle to the grave.

Marx preached hatred for the owners of machinery and recommended that they be killed and their properties taken over, whereupon the "big brains" of communism would take control, rule the workers and all the world, thus making wars impossible. It is an insane doctrine, and must be fought tooth and nail or it will win out.

The Republican victory is our God-given opportunity. We must not muff it. The Reds never miss a lick and they never sleep.

Close traced the loss of his NBC radio outlet to the New Deal Administration. Amazing exposures are now in order in Washington.

He divulged a secret—how he was forbidden to discuss Roosevelt's health before the 1944 election, as Close was told that would be "divulging a MILITARY SECRET".

Miss May Quinn, the famous Anti-Red school teacher, who was persecuted by Russian "Mockies" in Brooklyn early this year but who won out over their efforts to discharge her, presided at the meeting, which was under the auspices of the American Education Association of 545 Fifth Ave., New York 17, N. Y.

One of the association's leaders, Dr. MacDonald, also spoke, charging that Communists had infiltrated the New York school system, and that New York City was the fountainhead of Communism in the Western World. He pleaded for financial backing for Anti-Communists, as did Mr. Close, who showed how a Red would sell his shirt to back his socialistic faith.
